Located in north Salina on Highway 81, the 15 acre Thomas Park offers easy access to traveling motorists. The park was named for Bishop Thomas of the Episcopal Church and St. John's Military School. The park was first leased from St. John's Military School in 1936 and was purchased in 1951. The park offers a recreational vehicle dump station, two picnic shelters, playground equipment and overnight camping is permitted. Thomas Park is also the home of the Forestry Division Tree Nursery. The building known as the 'KIVA', a 1937 N.Y.A. native stone building and originally the area Girl Scout headquarters may be reserved through the Parks & Recreation office.
